Words of Torah from Rabbi Isaacs

The days from Rosh Chodesh Elul until after Yom Kippur have many different names. One of the names, according to the Kitzur Shulchan Aruch, is “Yamei Ratzon,” meaning “days of desire,” or “days of favor.” Even though God welcomes our teshuva, or repentance, any time, these days are special. According to tradition, it was on Rosh Hodesh Elul that Moses went up to Mount Sinai to receive the second set of tables (he smashed the first set after seeing the Golden Calf), he stayed there for forty days, and descended the mountain on the 10th of Tishrei, Yom Kippur.

Why are these days of favor? Partly because this was a time when God gave Moses and the Children of Israel a second chance, even when we were at our moral and spiritual nadir; this is a time when God remembers a supreme act of Divine mercy, and we hope that God will return to that mercy as we return to repent.

Beyond this historical reason, I think that there is another reason that these days are considered days of favor. We need a special time to dedicate ourselves to teshuva - we need a deadline, a due date, and a hope that the hard spiritual work we need to do will be worthwhile. As we enter Elul, let us remember that we are heading into a holy time, a time of great expectation, but also of Divine Desire. We are in relationship with a God that desires deeply our return to our better selves, and is willing to bring us back if we repent in good faith. I look forward to seeing you at selichot and High Holiday services as we return to one another (and the sanctuary!), to God, and the people that God desires us to be.

Hodesh Tov! (A happy new month)

Shabbat and Holiday Services

Please see page 3 for the full High Holiday service schedule.

Joint Selichot Services with Temple Beth El of Augusta: Saturday, September 17, 7–8:15 pm at Temple Beth El (3 Woodlawn Street, Augusta). Join Rabbi Isaac and Asch, plus special guest teacher Professor Reverend Cheryl Townsend Gilkes to learn about the themes of repentance in the book of Nehemiah.

Reverend Cheryl Townsend Gilkes is the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Professor Emerita of African-American Studies and Sociology at Colby College (Waterville, Maine). An ordained Baptist minister, she is an assistant pastor for special projects at the Union Baptist Church in Cambridge, Massachusetts. She has served as visiting faculty at several seminaries and schools of divinity, most recently Chicago Theological Seminary. Her research, teaching, and writing have specifically focused on the role of African American women in generating social change and on the diverse roles of black Christian women in the twentieth century.

Notes from the Board of Directors Meeting

August 15, 2022; in person and Zoom; 4:15 p.m.

Present in person: Judy Hansen–Childers, Sandy Maisel, John Margolis, Liz and Sid Geller; also Rabbi Isaacs and Yochanan Selasie. On Zoom: Shosh Cotton, Melissa Breger, and Marvin Eisengart.

Minutes of July 11: Sandy moved to approve as amended; Sid seconded; approved.

Rabbi Isaacs: Words of Torah – love and care from G–D to the Jewish people. In the desert “our feet never swelled; did not become like dough/sour.” Message: don’t become arrogant or “sore.”

Special presentation: : Yochanan and Chris Davis (of Davis Landscape Co., Inc.) were at the meeting to present a proposal for a sprinkler system because the lawn has dried out from lack of rain while the gardens have been maintained by manual watering. The cost of installation and continuing upkeep were discussed, but a concern was raised about the image of the synagogue if a too perfect landscape were maintained. No decisions today; this will be an ongoing discussion.

Treasurer: No report

Buildings and Grounds: John asked if we should continue with Justin for our lawn work and snow removal or have a landscape company do the yard work. If we hire a landscaper, Justin would still do snow removal. This committee is trying to create a yearly plan. Yochanon had suggested creating a synagogue garden club to help with planting, weeding, etc.

Capital campaign committee. Sandy reported that the launch event at enchanted Gables was a tremendous success; more than 150 people attended, and the donations exceeded our expenditures. Between what has already been collected and what is pledged before the first of the year, we should have enough money in the bank to start construction.

Old Business: No report

New Business: Rabbi Isaacs takes Tuesdays off and asks not to be contacted during her day off and also during vacations and sabbaticals.

High Holidays – back to “normal,” services in the sanctuary.

September to May programming – classes will continue and will be in person.

Sandy moved to adjourn at 5:35; Sid seconded.
